

Abstract

Disclosed herein is a system and method for providing personal broadcast recording channel service using eXtensible Markup Language (XML). The system includes a user interface, 5 an interface server and a wizard/transmission server. The system and the method allow members to conveniently instruct the members' remote Personal Video Recorders (PVRs) to record broadcasts using Personal Computers (PC) or wired/wireless communication terminals and a common network.